California Department of Developmental Services

The California Department of Developmental Services (DDS) provides leadership and direction to nonprofit corporations to ensure that infants, toddlers, children, and adults with developmental disabilities receive the services and supports they need as envisioned by the California Early Intervention Services Act and the Lanterman Developmental Disabilities Services Act. The disabilities of the children and adults served include mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism, and related conditions and, for infants and toddlers under age three, this also includes being at risk for disabilities. DDS contracts with 21 regional centers that provide, arrange, or purchase services and supports at the local level.

Prevention and Children Services Branch

DDS, as lead agency for Early Start, administers and coordinates a wide array of services for eligible infants and toddlers who have or are at risk for a developmental delay or disability and their families. The Prevention and Children Services Branch coordinates California's early intervention service system. Under Part C of the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), DDS is responsible for the planning, development, implementation, and monitoring of the statewide system of early intervention services in collaboration with the California Department of Education. DDS administers all mandatory and discretionary components required under IDEA including public awareness, personnel development, and interagency agreements with participating agencies and community-based organizations. DDS is also responsible for implementing procedural safeguards that protect the rights of children and families and for receiving and resolving complaints.

DDS maintains a toll-free BabyLine which provides information on California's Early Start system of services, including resources and referral.

California Department of Developmental Services

Regional Centers

Infants and toddlers, from birth up to 36 months, at risk of or with developmental delays or disabilities may be eligible to receive services through California's 21 community-based regional centers.

The Department of Developmental Services contracts with nonprofit corporations that operate regional centers.

Regional centers are the single point of entry into the service system that serves people with developmental disabilities across all ages. Regional centers provide intake, evaluation, and assessment to determine eligibility and service needs. They also provide service coordination, advocacy, information, referral, and an array of other services to eligible infants and toddlers and their families.

Early intervention services are provided, purchased, or arranged by regional centers based on the unique needs of the child and family. Early intervention services that are not available through other publicly-funded agencies are generally purchased from community service providers who are "vendored" by the regional center. In some communities, regional centers contract with local education agencies (LEAs) to provide special instruction and other related early intervention services through their early childhood special education programs to children served by regional centers.

Regional centers coordinate with LEAs and other local agencies and organizations in evaluation, assessment, development of individualized family service plans, and service provision. For children who are dually served by a regional center and an LEA, basic special education and related services are usually provided by the LEA. Either LEAs or regional centers may be designated to provide service coordination. The regional center may also provide additional early intervention services or other available State services based on the needs of the child and family.

California Department of Developmental Services

Family Resource Centers and Networks

Families of infants and toddlers, from birth up to 36 months at risk of or with developmental delays and disabilities, can receive parent-to-parent support from family resource centers and networks. Family resource centers receiving Early Start funding actively collaborate with local regional centers and educational agencies and help many parents, families, and children access early intervention services.

California's Early Start family resource centers and networks (FRC/Ns) are staffed by parents who have children with special needs and provide information and parent-to-parent support. Each FRC/N is unique, reflecting the needs of their community. They may operate as independent sites or be based in regional centers, local education agencies, public health facilities, hospitals, or homes. Services are available in many languages and are culturally responsive to the needs of the individual family.

Family resource centers and networks contracted by the California Department of Developmental Services may provide:

- parent-to-parent and family support
- peer counseling and home visits
- information and referral
- public awareness
- parent education
- support services in many languages
- transition assistance
- support services in urban and rural communities

In addition, some FRC/Ns have newsletters, resource libraries, and websites, as well as parent and/or sibling support groups and telephone "warmlines" or "babylines."

California Department of Education

The mission of the California Department of Education (CDE) is to lead, assist, and motivate Californians in providing high quality educational programs that are efficient and equitable; that prepare students for employment and citizenship; and that promote the students' intellectual, ethical, cultural, emotional, and physical growth.

California Department of Education,
Superintendent of Public Instruction

Special Education Division

This Division is responsible for developing and coordinating the provision of free and appropriate programs to students with special education and related services needs throughout California. The Division administers Early Start services for infants and toddlers with solely visual, hearing, and severe orthopedic impairments, or any combination thereof.

The Division consults and collaborates with the Early Start lead agency, the Department of Developmental Services, and other state and local agencies to meet the requirements of Part C of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. The Special Education Division develops policies and administers programs that are coordinated by 116 special education local plan areas and are provided by local education agencies such as school districts and county offices of education.

CDE participates in compliance procedures, dispute resolutions, program monitoring, and training and technical assistance activities. These ongoing activities are within the context of the overall responsibilities of CDE's Special Education Division for oversight and support of early childhood special education programs for infants, toddlers, preschoolers, and their families, along with educational services to children birth to 22 years of age.

State Special Schools and Services Division

The State Special Schools and Services Division operates the California Schools for the Deaf at Fremont and Riverside, the California School for the Blind in Fremont, and the three State diagnostic centers located in Los Angeles, Fresno, and Fremont. This Division also includes the Clearinghouse for Specialized Media and Technology, and the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Unit, which maintains a referral system for the California Newborn Hearing Screening Program.

Infants and toddlers who have vision, hearing, and severe orthopedic impairments (or a combination of these disabilities) receive individually designed early intervention services from local education agencies (LEAs) such as school districts and county offices of education. Across the state, special education local plan area (SELPA) administrators coordinate early childhood special education programs, which include early intervention services.

Since 1980, state law included a partial requirement for early education programs to serve the number of infants and toddlers with disabilities that they served in 1980-81. LEAs also provide services to a number of additional children in order to continue to qualify for their current level of state funding.

LEAs provide early intervention services in the home, community settings, and centers. These services include special instruction, service coordination, family support, and other early intervention services identified in the child's individualized family service plan (IFSP). LEAs also coordinate with regional centers and other local agencies and organizations in evaluation, assessment, and development of IFSPs.

For children who are dually served by a regional center and an LEA, basic special education and related services are usually provided by the LEA. Either LEAs or regional centers may be designated to provide service coordination. The regional center may also provide additional early intervention services or other available State services based on the needs of the child and family.

California Department of Health Services

The Department of Health Services (DHS), a collaborative Early Start partner, administers a range of programs that respond to the health and medical needs of children. The Children's Medical Services Branch (CMS) is a subdivision within DHS that oversees and supports programs that provide or fund preventive, diagnostic, and treatment services, including well-child assessments, immunizations, specialized health services, therapy, and rehabilitation services. CMS programs are designed to be responsive to children and families in greatest need, including infants and toddlers with disabilities and those at high risk for disabilities. Programs administered by CMS include:

- ◆ California Children Services (CCS) — provides diagnostic evaluations, treatment services, physical and occupational therapy, and medical case management for anyone who is under 21 years of age, is a California resident, has an eligible physically disabling medical condition, and whose family meets specific income eligibility requirements.
- ◆ Child Health and Disability Prevention (CHDP) — provides comprehensive health assessments, including vision, hearing, immunizations, physical and dental examinations, and nutritional assessments to children under 19 years of age whose families meet specific low-income criteria and to children under 21 years of age who are enrolled in Medi-Cal.
- ◆ CCS High-Risk Infant Follow-Up Program — follows graduates of CCS-approved neonatal intensive care units (NICUs) until age 2 and provides comprehensive physical examinations, vision and hearing assessment, developmental and psychosocial assessments, and referrals.
- ◆ HIV Children's Program — provides testing and counseling for children from birth to age 21 who are at risk for HIV infection and medical support to families of children who are HIV-infected.
- ◆ Medically Vulnerable Infant Program (MVIP) — provides home-based services to infants and their families following discharge from a CCS-approved NICU until the child reaches 3 years of age. Services include case management; referral; crisis intervention; advocacy; developmental assessment, monitoring, and intervention; parent counseling and education; and specialized therapeutic consultation and intervention.
- ◆ The California Newborn Hearing Screening Program — offers parents of infants born in CCS-approved hospitals the opportunity to have their child screened for hearing loss. Access to rescreening, diagnostic evaluation, and treatment also is available. Infants identified with a hearing loss are linked to early intervention services through an established Early Start referral system.

California Department of Social Services

The California Department of Social Services (DSS) is an Early Start collaborative partner whose primary goals are to assist individuals to become financially, physically, emotionally, and socially independent; to prevent or remedy neglect, abuse, or exploitation of children and adults; and to provide appropriate home, community, or institutional care for those in need within the least restrictive environment possible.

In addition to administering programs that provide financial assistance for low-income families and dependent children, DSS directs several different programs collectively known as Child Welfare Services. The welfare and safety of children and of all family members must be maintained while strengthening and preserving the family whenever possible. Services are focused on the family as a whole; family strengths are identified, enhanced, and respected. In cases in which children must be removed from their families for reasons of health or safety, they are placed in the least restrictive, most homelike settings. Efforts are made to restore the family strengths so children can return to a home and community in which they are safe, healthy, wanted, and valued.

Social Services programs are administered by county and branch offices and provide local information on public and private social services available in each county.

California Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs

The Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs (ADP), an Early Start collaborative partner, directs and coordinates the statewide effort to prevent and reduce alcohol and drug abuse and their effects. The Department provides funding for county-administered and other alcohol and drug prevention and treatment services for persons who have, or are at risk of having, drug and alcohol problems. Intake and assessment for services vary at the local level and may be based on self-report, court order, or past history of substance abuse.

Generally, ADP treatment and prevention programs focus on adults. However, some local programs may offer services for younger children as part of other treatment programs for women and families. Counties place a particular emphasis on prevention and treatment programs for pregnant women through the ADP Perinatal Services Network (PSN). The provision of PSN services has increased awareness of and involvement in the early intervention service delivery system.

The county drug or alcohol program can provide information on public and private services available within each county.

California Department of Mental Health

The Department of Mental Health (DMH), also an Early Start collaborative partner, directs and coordinates the statewide delivery of mental health services. Services are provided at the county level and reflect the needs of each community. Services may vary from county to county and typically include intake referral, mental health evaluation and assessment, outpatient treatment, day treatment, residential placement, and case management services provided by a wide range of mental health professionals and paraprofessionals.

Assessments are conducted to determine the need for mental health services and to determine whether services from the county mental health departments or other community agencies are most appropriate. Programs provided by county mental health departments have typically focused on services for school-age children, adolescents, and adults with eligible conditions. However, services for families and infants and toddlers with disabilities, or at risk of a disability, may be provided in conjunction with other agencies and local early intervention services.

The county mental health department can provide local program information on public and private mental health services available in each county.

State Interagency Coordinating Council on Early Intervention

The State Interagency Coordinating Council (ICC) on Early Intervention assists and advises the Department of Developmental Services (DDS) concerning the statewide system of early intervention services. One of the goals of the ICC is to assist DDS in achieving the full participation, cooperation, and coordination of appropriate public agencies that serve young children and their families.

The ICC also provides a forum for public input from parents, service providers, service coordinators, and others about federal, State, or local policies that support the timely delivery of appropriate early intervention services.

Members of the ICC are appointed by the Governor. The council is comprised of parents of children with disabilities, early intervention service providers, health care professionals, state agency representatives, and others interested in early intervention. Meetings are held at least quarterly.

Committees of the ICC

Family Support Services Committee

Advises and assists the ICC regarding support to families who have young children with disabilities.

Health Systems Committee

Advises the ICC in the area of health to ensure access to, and delivery of, comprehensive health services to children eligible for Early Start.

Quality Assurance and Personnel and Program Standards Committee

Advises the ICC regarding quality assurance, including personnel and program standards.

Public Awareness Committee

Advises the ICC on public awareness activities which coordinate, support, and promote California Early Start.
